Most of their services are free.

Talk to a business adviser

A business adviser can give you advice on running a business.

You can talk to a business adviser

- online

- on the phone

- in person.

Some advisers are free.

Some advisers charge money.

Our website has a list of business advisers
(business.gov.au/expertise-and-advice).

Go to business events

Go to events and workshops to

- learn business skills
- meet other business owners.

Business events are held all over Australia.

Many events are online.

Our website has a list of business events
(business.gov.au/events-and-training).

Get help with your finances

Your finances mean all the money your business has.

You can pay other people to help manage your finances.

A bookkeeper can

- manage money coming into and out of your business

- do your banking

- pay your staff.

An accountant can

- prepare finance reports

- give you business and finance advice

- help you with tax.

Get help to pay tax

You need to pay tax to the Australian Taxation Office. It is also called the ATO.

The ATO is part of the government.

The ATO website has advice about paying tax. Some of it is

- Easy Read advice
